Needs and Uses: The Commission launched the Disaster Information Reporting System (DIRS) in 2007 pursuant to its mandate to promote the safety of life and property through the use of wire and radio communication as required by the Communications Act of 1934, as amended. DIRS is an efficient, and web-based system that communications companies use to report their infrastructure status during times of crisis (e.g., related to a disaster). DIRS uses a number of template forms tailored to different communications sectors (i.e., wireless, wireline, broadcast, and cable) to facilitate the entry of this information. To use DIRS, a company first inputs its emergency contact information. After this, they submit information using the template form appropriate for their communications sector. Certain federal, state, territorial, and Tribal Nation agencies may request access to certain geographically relevant reports filed in DIRS.

In a Second Report and Order adopted on January 25, 2024, as FCC 24–5, the Commission adopted rules requiring cable communications, wireless, wireline and interconnected VoIP providers (Subject Providers) to report on their infrastructure status in during emergencies and crises when DIRS is activated and to submit a final report to the Commission within 24 hours of DIRS deactivation. This new cadence for DIRS reporting will improve management and mitigation of the short-term and long-term impacts of disasters on communications networks which will enhance situational awareness in emergency and disaster situations for the Commission, emergency responders, and the public at large.

Federal Communications Commission.

Secretary, Office of the Secretary.

Discussion:

Under the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act (Dodd-Frank Act), Public Law 111–203, 124 Stat. 1376 (2010), almost all rulemaking authority for the ECOA, EFTA, CLA, and TILA transferred from the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System (Board) to the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB) on July 21, 2011 (transfer date). To implement this transferred authority, the CFPB published new regulations in 12 CFR part 1002 (Regulation B), 12 CFR part 1005 (Regulation E), 12 CFR part 1013 (Regulation M), and 12 CFR part 1026 (Regulation Z) for those entities under its rulemaking jurisdiction.¹ Although the Dodd-Frank Act transferred most rulemaking authority under ECOA, EFTA, CLA, and TILA to the CFPB, the Board retained rulemaking authority for certain motor vehicle dealers² under all of these
