Abstract: The Office on Violence Against Women (OVW)’s formula and discretionary grant programs were authorized through the Violence Against Women Act of 1994 (VAWA) and subsequent legislation, including VAWA reauthorizations in 2000, 2005, 2013 and 2022. Funding under OVW’s two largest formula grant programs—the STOP Violence Against Women Formula Grant Program and the Sexual Assault Services Formula Program—is distributed to states and territories according to a statutory formula and the states and territories then make subgrants. OVW determines data reporting requirements for each grant program based on what is required by statute and what is necessary for monitoring the awards. OVW must collect performance data from grantees in order to comply with statutory reporting requirements and monitor the grants, among other purposes.

This is a request to consolidate existing previously approved information collections under a new collection—a new consolidated OMB number. This collection is currently covered by a series of approved collections with different OMB numbers that correspond to grant program-specific progress reporting forms. The purpose of obtaining a new, omnibus OMB number for OVW’s performance reporting data catalog is to align approval for this information collection with the mechanism through which OVW plans to collect the data, i.e., all grant performance data elements will be maintained in a data catalog that will be used to build web-based collection instruments for each grant program. OVW intends to phase out its use of fillable forms and move to a web-based system for collecting data.

The information obtained through this collection is used in reports to Congress on the effectiveness and use of grant funding, monitoring grant funded activities, and to assess the extent to which grant program goals are being achieved. There are three sets of respondents: formula grant program state administrators, formula program subgrantees, and discretionary program grantees.
