SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Department of Labor's (Department) Wage and Hour Division (WHD) is authorized to administer and enforce a variety of laws that establish the minimum standards for wages and working conditions in the United States. Collectively, these labor standards cover most private, State, and local government employment. These labor laws range from some of the earliest labor protections passed by Congress to some of the most recent. Although they differ in scope, all of the statutes enforced by WHD are intended to protect and to promote the welfare of the nation's workforce; to provide opportunities for advancement; to ensure fair compensation for work performed; and to level the playing field for responsible employers. The Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) minimum wage provisions and the government contract prevailing wage laws provide a floor for the payment of fair wages, while the FLSA overtime provisions are intended to broaden work opportunities and promote employment. The Migrant and Seasonal Agricultural Worker Protection Act (MSPA) and the immigration programs establish working conditions intended to protect the wages and the safety and health of vulnerable workers; to ensure that the local labor force is not displaced by lower paid foreign or migrant labor; and ensure employers that obey the law are not disadvantaged. The McNamara-O'Hara Service Contract Act (SCA) requires contractors and subcontractors performing services on prime contracts in excess of $2,500 to pay service employees in various classes no less than the wage rates and fringe benefits found prevailing in the locality, or the rates (including prospective increases) contained in a predecessor contractor's collective bargaining agreement. The Davis-Bacon and Related Acts (DBRA) require payment of prevailing wages on federal funded or assisted construction projects. The Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) was enacted to help workers balance family and work responsibilities and help keep middle class families in the middle class by providing job protection, and the child labor provisions of the FLSA ensure the safe employment of young workers; encourage their educational endeavors; and provide a path to future employment. The Department also administers portions of the Consumer Credit Protection Act, various Executive orders (E.O.) such as E.O. 13658, E.O. 14026, and E.O. 14055.

In fiscal year 2023, WHD concluded 955 investigations that found child labor violations, a 14% increase from the previous year. WHD found nearly 5,800 children employed in violation of the law, an 88% increase since 2019, and assessed more than $8 million in penalties, an 83% increase from the previous year. At WHD, safeguarding children at work has always been our top priority. WHD investigations found a significant increase in children being employed illegally and in 2023 launched a National Strategic Enforcement Initiative on Child Labor to put additional emphasis on addressing this critical issue. As part of this initiative, the Department has designed a WHD contact form to better respond to potential child labor issues and potential complaints. This revision proposes to implement the contact form to better streamline Department responsiveness to child labor issues. For additional substantive information about this ICR, see the related notice published in the Federal Register on June 27, 2024 (89 FR 53656).
