

substation on an adjacent approved solar facility and connect into the regional transmission system via the Cielo Azul 500 kV switching station and Ten West Link 500 kV transmission line. Overhead 69 kV connection lines would extend approximately 2 miles in a proposed utility easement on La Paz County land to the Cielo Azul switching station. The Applicant has incorporated numerous design features into the Proposed Action to avoid or minimize adverse environmental effects during construction, operation, and decommissioning. These plans and procedures are provided as appendices to the Proposed Plan of Development and the Final EIS.

The Final EIS analyzes three alternatives:

- No Action, in which the BLM would not approve the ROW to authorize construction, operation and maintenance, and decommissioning of the Project, resulting in a continuation of existing conditions;
- Proposed Action, in which the BLM would approve the ROW to authorize construction, operation and maintenance, and decommissioning of the Project consistent with the detailed Project description above; and
- Wash Avoidance Alternative, in which the BLM would approve the ROW consistent with the design of the Proposed Action, except that the ROW would not authorize construction in a desert wash within the Project Area and near known environmentally sensitive sites, and would require using specified setbacks to enhance resource conservation opportunities.

Based on the analyses contained in the Final EIS for the proposed Jove Solar Project, and after carefully considering input from the public and cooperating agencies, the BLM has selected the Wash Avoidance Alternative as the preferred alternative, as it would further reduce impacts to native vegetation communities, wildlife movement, and natural hydrological drainage relative to the Proposed Action.

Public Participation

In addition to making the Draft EIS available for public comment, the BLM hosted one virtual public meeting during the comment period. The BLM received 26 written comments, including from Federal and State agencies, non-governmental organizations, construction and equipment vendors, Tribal Nations, and members of the general public. The BLM addressed these comments in the Final EIS. The BLM will continue to consult with Indian Tribal Nations on a government-to-government basis in accordance with Executive Order 13175, the BLM Manual Section (MS) 1780, and other Departmental policies. Public comments received on the Draft EIS and internal BLM review were considered and incorporated as appropriate into the Final EIS. Public comments and internal BLM review resulted in the addition of clarifying text, including the elimination of sub-alternatives no longer being considered. The revisions and edits have not significantly changed the impact analyses.

Schedule for the Decision-Making Process

The BLM anticipates releasing a Record of Decision in December 2024. The BLM will decide whether to issue a decision granting, granting with modifications, or denying the application for the ROW.
